INTRODUCTION AND OVERVIEW

The Law and Justice Interim Committee (the LJIC) is one of several interim committees established by law and required to meet in the months between regular legislative sessions. Interim committees provide oversight for the various state agencies, perform interim studies as needed and as assigned by the Legislative Council, and propose legislation for consideration at the next legislative session. The interim committees also provide an avenue for Montana's citizens to provide testimony about their experiences with state government.

The LJIC is responsible for monitoring the activities of the Office of the State Public Defender (OPD), the Department of Corrections (DOC), the Department of Justice (DOJ), and any entities attached to those agencies for administrative purposes. The administratively attached entities that the LJIC monitors are:

- the Board of Pardons and Parole (attached to DOC);
- the Board of Crime Control (attached to DOJ);
- the Gaming Advisory Council (attached to DOJ); and
- the Public Safety Officer Standards and Training (POST) Council (attached to DOJ).

The committee also serves as the liaison to the Judicial Branch.

The Legislative Council assigned one study to the LJIC for the 2015-2016 interim:

- Senate Joint Resolution No. 24, a study of sexual assault in Montana.

This work plan outlines the agency oversight and study duties assigned to the LJIC and proposes a meeting schedule from June 2015 to August 2016. Once revised and adopted by the LJIC, the work plan will serve as a general "road map" of the committee's priorities for the interim. The work plan includes:

- a matrix to help the committee determine the level of involvement it would like to have in its oversight duties and the interim studies. The matrix begins on page 6.
- a discussion of other law and justice-related studies being undertaken this interim that will affect the work of the LJIC and its staff, beginning on page 3; and
- a proposed schedule of activities for each committee meeting, beginning on page 9.

The LJIC members should be prepared to discuss and revise the work plan at its organizational meeting. Staff will then revise the plan as needed, and the committee can adopt the final plan at its second meeting.

AGENCY OVERSIGHT

Agency monitoring duties are set out in section 5-5-215, MCA, and are discussed below. The LJIC should perform these duties for each of the agencies assigned to it.

Rule Review

The LJIC's staff attorney routinely reviews and summarizes the administrative rulemaking notices for the agencies monitored by the committee and will provide members with information on this process. Staff pays particular attention to any rules considered to be out of compliance with legislative intent or with the rulemaking process set out in law. The Montana Administrative Procedure Act (MAPA) allows interim committees to:

- obtain an agency's rulemaking records to review them for compliance;
- submit written recommendations to the agency for the adoption, amendment, or rejection of a rule;
- require that a rulemaking hearing be held;
- participate in proceedings; and
- review the conduct of administrative proceedings.

Program Monitoring, Required Reports, and Advisory Councils

The LJIC is required to monitor the operations of the agencies under its jurisdiction and should give specific attention to:

- identifying issues likely to require further legislative action;
- identifying opportunities to improve existing laws that govern an agency's operation and programs;
- determining whether the experiences Montanans have had with an agency can be improved through legislative action; and
- reviewing proposed agency legislation.

In addition to program monitoring, certain statutes require agencies under the jurisdiction of the LJIC to present to the committee or the Legislature reports on various topics. As part of its agency monitoring work, the LJIC must review the required reports to determine if the next Legislature should retain or eliminate any of these reports. The same review must be performed for advisory councils or commissions under the committee's jurisdiction.

A list of the required reports and the various advisory councils and commissions can be found on pages 12 and 13 of this work plan.

Review of Draft Legislation

Using the procedures set out in the Joint Rules, the LJIC should review legislative proposals from the agencies for the 2017 legislative session. This review typically happens in the late spring or early summer of the final year of the interim. Interim committees may then authorize legislative staff to draft the agencies' legislation. The review and authorization process is not an endorsement by the LJIC of the agency proposals. Instead, this process allows staff to get an early start on drafting bills so their time is free after the November elections to work on bills for the newly elected legislators. Agency bills drafted as a result of this process must be pre-introduced before the next legislative session and will be among the first bills heard by the new Legislature.

OTHER CRIMINAL JUSTICE STUDIES AND ONGOING ISSUES OF LJIC MEMBER INTEREST

Typically, the LJIC members want to receive periodic written or oral updates on topics that were the subject of recent legislation or recent LJIC attention, or on issues that may emerge during the interim. In the past interim, the LJIC received updates on the status of the Office of the Public Defender and a reentry task force operated by the Department of Corrections. It also had briefings on the National Instant Criminal Background Check System, revisions to South Dakota's criminal justice system, and several other topics.

This interim, there are plenty of issues the LJIC could choose to designate committee time to study. However, given the number and extent of other criminal justice studies created by bill and assigned to legislative staff to study, the LJIC will have limited staff resources to direct to ongoing issues of interest. As a result, the staff will work closely with the presiding officer and LJIC to prioritize what issues of interest should be covered and in what manner. The committee should also avoid duplicating study topics that are undertaken as part of these other study efforts.

The other criminal justice studies created by bill are:

- SB 224 - Commission to study criminal justice system;
- HB 430 - Interim judicial redistricting commission; and
- HB 627 - Task force to study the office of public defender.

The HB 627 Task Force is required by law to coordinate meetings with the LJIC. This requirement means that, at a minimum, the LJIC should listen to periodic updates from task force members or staff about the task force's work.

Individual members of the committee may seek additional information on issues that fall under the jurisdiction of the LJIC. These issues may be raised by constituents, may be emerging problems or solutions in Montana or other states, or may be of interest to a particular member. If the committee chooses not to pursue information on a topic, the individual committee member may submit a research request. Under rules adopted by the Legislative Council, a staff member may provide up to 16 hours of research for a request that is not included in a committee's work plan unless the presiding officer of the interim committee approves additional research time. Due to the extensive criminal justice work required this interim, committee staff will have limited time to use for individual member research requests. These requests may have to be assigned to other legislative staff or put on hold until time allows for further research.

An initial list of issues is provided on page 8. The list provides space for other issues identified by LJIC members as the interim progresses.

MEETING SCHEDULE

The committee voted to adopt the following meeting schedule. It includes an educational visit by LJIC members to the Crossroads Correctional Center in Shelby at the September 2015 meeting. The LJIC expressed interest in visiting Montana State Prison in Deer Lodge, but did not set a date for a possible visit at the organizational meeting.

Meeting Schedule

- Thursday, June 26, 2015 - organizational meeting
- Monday-Wednesday, September 28-30, 2015
- Monday, November 30, 2015
- Monday/Tuesday, February 22-23, 2016

- Monday, April 11, 2016
- Tuesday, June 28, 2016
- Monday, August 22, 2016

Committee members may change the dates or number of meetings as their schedules and the budget allow to better reflect their needs for the interim and any changing priorities as the interim progresses. However, because LJIC members are also assigned to other interim committees and LJIC shares staff with other commissions and committees, the LJIC must be careful when scheduling and rescheduling meetings to reduce conflicts with other interim commitments.

Suggested activities for each meeting can be found on page 9.

TIME ALLOCATION

The LJIC Work Plan Decision Matrix in Appendix A on page 6 provides a list of the LJIC's duties, along with options for the level of involvement that committee members chose to have with each topic. The options marked with asterisks would result in the following breakdown of committee time, assuming 63 hours of meeting time (9 meeting days x 7 meeting hours).

If a topic is not selected by the committee to include in the work plan, an individual member may pursue the topic as an information request. Staff may work on an information request for up to 16 hours. After that amount of time is expended, further time can be granted by the committee's presiding officer or by the committee if it chooses to amend its work plan to include the topic.

Committee activities related to the following topics could include presentations, staff briefing papers, or other items as requested by the committee.
